

A top-down view of many people's feet and lower legs standing on a light-colored, textured ground. The feet are wearing various styles of shoes, including sneakers, boots, and sandals, in a variety of colors and patterns. The legs are wearing different types of pants, such as jeans, trousers, and leggings.

Swarm regulation research needs volunteers

Join the SWARM study

To register your interest, contact matimba.swana@bristol.ac.uk

The SWARM study is investigating the ethics and regulations of using AI driven cancer therapies with swarm behaviour through a series of interviews.

Who can volunteer?

- Volunteers over the age of 18
- Oncology healthcare professionals or oncology patients or those working in drug delivery regulation or in nanomedicine research